

MUST INVESTIGATE

THE TALLY-SHEET CASES

Judge Irvin Pointedly Instructs the New Grand Jury To Do Their Duty
In The Premises.

The new County Grand Jury met this morning and were instructed at length by Judge Irvin. He urged them to carefully investigate violations of the gambling and liquor laws, and called their attention, very cordially, to the tally-sheet cases. On which he said:

"I now come, to a matter, gentlemen, and I wish to direct your attention and give you in plain language, and that is what is commonly known as the tally-sheet frauds, wherein the tally-sheet is falsified, and the voters of this county at the last State and county election are changed, forced and altered. This crime, gentlemen, is a very serious one, and in fact, I consider that it should not be allowed to go unpunished and the perpetrators unpunished. If it is possible to bring the guilty parties to justice, I will be very glad to see them."

and make presentment. In view of the fact that the grand jury found sufficient evidence upon which to return indictments against the defendants, the court's conclusions of the Federal statutes, growing out of the Federal grand jury's action, are hardly expensive any great difficulty attending the evidence upon which the grand jury acted. It is not necessary that such as is required to conduct a trial in court, where the rule as to reasonable doubt is applied, and the jury is required to find reasonable proof of guilt and present in your minds the belief that there is sufficient evidence to support the indictment. This crime was committed by the defendant, and the jury is the people expressed through the bailor, and the interest of certain members of the grand jury in the list of names of another party. Yet I desire to impress upon you that the grand jury is the crime, and the investigation of the same, and the position of partisan matters. It is not a question of the guilt of the defendant, but simply a question of whether the grand jury is punishing the defendant from the people's interest.

to Mr. Justice will expect a searching investigation of this matter at your hands, to the satisfaction of the guilty parties may be brought to bear on this court for trial. Anything less than a full and complete discharge of your duty in this matter would be a failure to do justice to the law and to the people. It is the duty of the law to be impartially enforced. That you have the power to do so is a matter of course. The oath you have taken, without qualification, binds you to do so. I have no doubt that you will do so. I therefore direct you to take such action as you may deem proper to bring to the attention of your present session, and shall expect to see the result of your action in the minutes of the session. The Prosecuting Attorney will be expected to report to you the sections of the statutes covered by the indictment, and to the result of the investigation concerning the same as you may determine.

ARREWELL TO PLAINFIELD.

Ostensibly to have distributed the books to the "families," Blake was got into the chapel, where gathered all the boys, officers and staff. After a brief session of songs a beautiful manner and bearing were presented Mr. and the former bearing the following:

Therefore express to him our love and gratitude for his services, and assure him that there has been a blessing to the institution, and touched alike the hearts of the members of the church and the colored people, and the present and absent.

It is abundantly to be that his future labors will be as successfully rewarded than his past. Let the Indiana Reform School for Boys, H. N. H. K. M. A. Board of Control, LEVI A. BARNETT, Superintendent. For the Board of the Officers and Boys, July 1, 1888.

It then good-by had to be said. Emotions too strong for words, and the

As the boys filed out, Mr. Blake stood on the porch, my friend, but a shake of the head and a faintly gray high forehead told at a glance that he was old and at passed. Another of the boys found a chair outside, saying: "I'll take seven minutes to break in another chaplain, and then I'll be back." Blake gave this week to Richmond to upon the discharge of his duties as superintendent of the Institute for Feeble-minded. His successor at Plainfield is not selected.

New Year's Day.

A new year was ushered in Sunday morning by the ringing of bells, the blowing of whistles, and other unseemly disturbances. The boys, however, lasted but a few minutes. They were very quiet day in the morning and to-day they devoted no time to the usual noisy games. Business was going on

I dreamed that I stood at Heaven's high gate one day.

A maid, and in her hand she held a red

One withered rose, with all its grace of red

Wild beauty gone.

"Dear me," said I, "what a lovely sight!"

"How and where did you find this flower?"

Away with it, that worthless flower and old!"

"Alas! it is the very rose," cried she,

A SUCCESSFUL DEDICATION.

The New Third Christian Church of Debt—A Beautiful House of Worship.

Yesterday was a notable day in the history of the Third Christian Church. The congregation has outgrown its old quarters and is now housed in one of the most convenient and ornate temples imaginable. In August last the corner-stone of the new church was laid. The lot at the corner of Home avenue and Ash street adjoining the old church building had been purchased and the old building removed to the west side of the ground, leaving the corner for the new edifice. The building and furnishings have been put in for about $11,000, and the best of it is that through the liberality of the church's friends and members yesterday the entire property of the congregation is freed

from encumbrance.

The new building is of stone and pressed brick. The exterior is plain—after the Romanesque style. It was designed by John

Steen and constructed after his plans, under the supervision of J. J. Minthorn, assisted by Wm. Cochran, R. M. Cosby and others.

The feature of the building is the interior; it is unlike any church in these parts. The auditorium is square. The roof is supported by four immense arches, which at the same time constitute the supports to the galleries on three sides. The floor inclines always toward the pulpit, which is set out toward the center of the auditorium. Between the auditorium and the vestibule a plush portiere is substituted for doors. The pulpit and the choir space are surrounded

with brass railings from which depend heavy draperies. The walls are frescoed. Light comes through stained glass windows at

and from sixty gas globes, arranged up and down the arches, at night.

THE POPE'S JUBILEE.

An imposing local demonstration at Tomlinson Hall.

When Tomlinson Hall was built it was thought to be large enough to accommodate as many people as might desire to assemble there. The local celebration in honor of the golden jubilee of Pope Leo XIII, the fiftieth anniversary of his entrance into the priesthood, was attended by many Catholics yesterday that the hall was packed to the walls, and very many were unable to get even inside the building. Over the stage was a large picture of His Holiness, and the decorations otherwise were elaborate and appropriate.

On the stage were Rt. Rev. F. S. Chatard, bishop of the diocese; Rt. Rev. August Besancon, V. S.; Very Rev. Anthony Scheidegger, Rev. Francis Haise, Rev. Daniel Curran, Rev. M. Collier, Rev. Frederick Gaven, Rev. H. Alenier, Rev. Ollian Sobott, Rev. D. O'Donoghue, Rev. Frank W. Quigley and others. Captain McHugh spoke briefly in announcing the object of the meeting, and was followed at length by Bishop Chatard, who was listened to with marked attention, and was given a very kindly reception. He spoke earnestly and eloquently of the head of the Church, the exalted position he occupied and the honor due him for his personal characteristics and ecclesiastical career. The Catholics throughout the world, said the Bishop, were now demanding the restoration of the Pope's temporal power. The Italian Government, he added, had been weighed in the balance and found wanting. He did not look for a miracle, but God's hand was not shortened, and in His own way He may bring about the desired result. We must imitate the Christians of the Apostolic day, and pray without ceasing for the delivery of the Pope from the hands of his enemies, as they prayed for Peter.

Father Scheidegger followed in the same strain, saying that the eyes of all Catholics are now turned toward Rome. He closed by calling upon the audience to give three cheers for the Pope, and they were given very enthusiastically. Miss Margaret McKeever sang Miller's Ave Maria, and Mr. W. Carr delivered a carefully prepared address. The choir from St. Joseph's Church sang appropriate selections, and Mr. George Wolf spoke briefly in German. The demonstration concluded by the audience rising and singing "Te Deum Laudamus."

Will Go To Brooklyn.

Rev. E. A. Bradley has decided to accept the call to St. Luke's Church, Brooklyn, and will begin his duties there on February 1, his resignation from Christ Church having been accepted. Mr. Bradley has been rector of Christ Church during the past fifteen years. He was originally educated for the surgery, but became a minister at the age of twenty-two, graduating at the College of New York and the General Theological School, also of New York. His first call was to the parish of Wiscasset, Me., where he remained five years, going then to St. Marks, Minneapolis, for two years, and next to St. Marks, Canons, Mich., for two years more, when he came here. Bishop Kinkaid presided at Christ Church yesterday morning, and made an appropriate allusion to the coming separation of pastor and people, saying that he felt that in Mr. Bradley's leaving his right hand would be gone.

German Orphan Asylum Affairs.

At the meeting of the German Orphan Society yesterday afternoon, addresses in memoriam of the late Henry Mankediek, Henry Emerich and William Esman were presented, and, as Mankediek was the vice president of the society, it was ordered that election be held next Saturday to fill the vacancy caused by his death. Henry Habsay, George Brinkmeyer and Fred Sanders were nominated as candidates for the position. The ladies' section gave notice that a ball would be given on the 17th inst.

Damage Suits Against the City.

During the year just ended City Attorney Taylor has defended damage suits calling for $40,000 against the city, and in every instance secured a favorable verdict. The only damage paid was $1,000 to the widow of Fireman Tuff. There are yet damage suits for $230,000 pending against the city, of which $100,000 is on account of the overflow of Fogue's Run. Two cases, tried several years ago, have been affirmed by the Supreme Court as against the city.

Unauthorized Warrants.

Discovery was made by the City Clerk Saturday afternoon that two unauthorized warrants had been paid by the County Treasurer—one drawn in favor of Murray & Co. for $15.50, and in the other in favor of S. C. Dawson for $18.40. Under the present system the bill is left with the City Clerk, and a warrant is drawn on the County Treasurer for the amount, but it is required that the same shall be indorsed when presented for payment. Both of these warrants were taken out by unknown parties in October, and they were paid without being indorsed. The Treasurer has made good the loss.
